Revolutionary new business Free World One receives positive response at 10th annual Zeitgeist Day

April 18, 2018 – Irish author, activist and founder of The Free World Charter, Colin Turner's unveiling of unique new business Free World One was met with an overwhelmingly positive response at this year's annual Zeitgeist Day event on April 7 in Frankfurt, Germany.

Free World One's mission is to create, support and fund a wide variety of projects that promote the Free World Charter ethos of creating a free and sustainable planet for all.

Funds derived from these projects pay the company's minimal operational costs and are invested into new projects, with profits distributed to shareholders.

The presentation of Free World One at the 10th annual Z-Day event triggered many in attendance to approach Colin for details of how to invest in the new company.

Colin says: "It has long been my belief that access to all of life's basic requirements ought to be a fundamental human right given our current technological capabilities. Now we are no longer asking anyone to make this happen. FREE WORLD ONE is creating the tools to make this happen within our lifetimes.

"We are about creating the networks, the infrastructure, the educational tools and the awareness campaigns to make our free world a reality by 2040. And the beauty with this approach is that anyone can get involved as an investor and benefit from our company while we carry out this work.

"We truly are a transition company. Advancing our ideas for a future free world, while maintaining a foothold in the existing system to achieve growth within that system. Very exciting times ahead for all of us!"

Free World One's current projects include the free-sharing global community site Freeworlder.com, and the open awards and reputation network HonorPay.org, both of which have memberships in the thousands.

Projects in development include PlayUp Games, an education syllabus that teaches cooperation and life skills through the medium of games, and a feature length film adaptation of popular novel F-Day: The Second Dawn of Man.

Despite having only been recently founded, Free World One has already garnered support from almost 200 investors, many of whom are attracted to the idea of supporting global change with the added perk of a financial return.

And with shares currently selling at just 99c each, the opportunity is available to everyone.
